

ABSTRACT*A Burner

A burner 1 for a heat generator comprises an outlet 10 connectable to a combustion chamber 9, wherein at least part of an inner surface of the outlet 10 is provided with corrugations 11 which are adapted to facilitate the production of axial vorticity in the region of the outlet 10.

(Figure 2)